Why Choose Secrecy One: NOT by wozniak

This brief document is NOT written by wozniak, but is taken from words by our* wozniak.

Our wozniak is called Ben Simpson. He is Secrecy One's CTO, and he is a goal-driven tech genius of a man who wants to make things work.

Spending as little as possible.

And doing this as elegantly and sustainably as any humans might.

Why Choose Secrecy One: NOT by wozniak

All the previous doesn't mean I'm Secrecy One's jobs to Secrecy One's wozniak.

But it does mean the engineering of what we do is in the best hands possible.

Here, we are using tech to expand, enhance, and optimise — beyond what most of us think is possible — the human cognitive capabilities we are all born to.

Using our own human cognitive capabilities to achieve this goal, supported judiciously by — and in partnership with — machines.

Why Choose Secrecy One: NOT by wozniak

Dated 23rd August 2026, this presentation forms a progress report by Ben on four projects which we're currently looking to fund.

Three belong to the Verify Suite:

One belongs to the I-VE_SPACE project:

What follows is Ben's assessment of the four projects as they currently stand, and therefore what needs to be done from now on in. They're listed in the GTM order which in his opinion they hold.

Thanks for reading thus far. Enjoy the rest of the presentation.

On Project Two | VERIFY PLUS NOT by wozniak

Verify Plus (Clearest Commercial Pitch):

Sharpest positioning overall.

It addresses a specific target audience (CISOs and IT decision-makers) with a clear, actionable value proposition focused on securing hybrid IT and remote workforces.

This is the strongest asset for enterprise clients, corporate partners, and investors.

On Project One | VERIFY HOME NOT by wozniak

Verify Home (Simplest Consumer Messaging):

Easiest high-level concept to grasp.

Framing it around "work, family & friends" makes the intent instantly relatable to everyday users, though the technical specifics remain broad.

On Project Three | Verify AWAY NOT by wozniak

Verify AWAY (Most Complex):

Conceptually dense.

It tackles abstract threat vectors like "cognitive attacks", psychosocial harassment, and smart-glass surveillance.

While relevant to specialised defence contexts, the heavy reliance on complex security theory makes it harder to digest quickly.

On Project Four | I-VE_SPACE NOT by wozniak

I-VE_SPACE (Founder Vision Update):

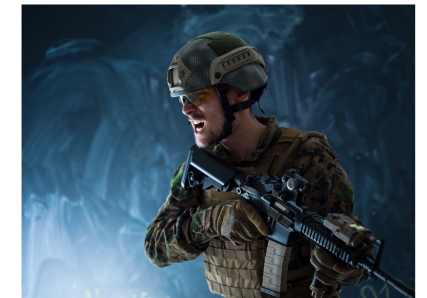

Functions as a strategic founder update rather than a standard product pitch.

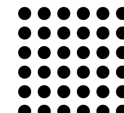

It effectively lays out our vision for "intuition validation" and agnostic Big Tech engineering partnerships.

Ben's conclusion:

If the primary goal is engaging enterprise buyers or investors, Verify Plus provides the cleanest structure and highest clarity.
